Why Should You Join WBN? (WIM's BUSINESS NETWORK)

Message from John Naisbitt, wellknown US Bestseller Author

"Women have opportunities as never before. As never before imagined—to serve, to shape the new global order. Women are integrating caring and love with the skills they have honed in a man's world—politicking, athletics, business competence, medicine and law. With this love in action, women are transforming the world."

"The Women's Institute of Management's effort in providing education and training to women is in the direction of empowering women towards greater and more active contribution to the development of the global society. I fully support this commendable initiative."
